2019 School of Prophecy in Brazil

14 May 2019

Over the Easter weekend, our team, together with Mike Davies and 15 guys and girls from Estação 337, joined us for our first Four12 School of Prophecy in Brazil. It was hosted at Movimento Convergência church in a town called Monte Mor, led by Angelo Bazzo and his wife, Carol. What a wonderful, God-filled and powerful time. Just over 200 students attended, from many different churches, some partnering with Four12, some looking in, all passionate, hungry and eager to learn more about the prophetic.

This is the biggest school that we have had so far and, considering that everything needed to be translated into Portuguese, it truly did feel like we were one in heart, mind and purpose throughout our time with them. We left on Sunday knowing that much had been revealed and learned, many new friends made, deeper relationships built, and a sense that God had been glorified and exalted in all that we had done.

We know that Jesus is building His Church around the world, and that He uses us as we make ourselves available. Come with us as we travel to the nations – you will be forever changed! – Julie de Lisle, Joshua Generation Church, RSA

Watch a feedback clip from Melanie du Toit below:

Embedded media is available on the article page.